moned and a jury was impaneled, its verdict being death from accident. The body was removed to the undertaking parlors of Mohn & Driscoll.

The dead man was 31 years old and it is reported that he leaves a wife and three children, residing in block 41 on Jackson street. Another workman by the name of Frank Smith was hit by a falling timber, but was not harmed. Duff was the son of a Scotchman, his mother being a Mexican woman.

DEATH ENDS LONG AND USEFUL LIFE

CHAPLAIN WINFIELD SCOTT, D.
D., GATHERED UNTO HIS FATHERS.

Biographical Sketch of a Worthy Citizen, a Brave Soldier and an Earnest Minister of the Gospel.

Winfield Scott, better known and widely so by the title of Chaplain Scott, died Wednesday night about 9 o'clock in St. Joseph's hospital in this city as the result of an operation for strangulated hernia, caused originally by a wound received during the civil war. Death came quite unexpectedly, even though his condition was known to be serious, for the operation appeared to be entirely successful and the patient revived well after it. The physicians were hopeful even sanguine of his early recovery when he suddenly experienced a change for the worse, while chatting with a friend, sank rapidly and died in a very few minutes.

The chaplain had been ill since Saturday but when first stricken the cause of his trouble was not fully understood. When his condition became serious Mrs. Scott who was in San Diego was notified and she is expected to arrive here this morning. Beside his wife he is survived by three daughters all of whom are married and reside elsewhere. No funeral arrangements have been announced.

Winfield Scott was born in Oakland county, Michigan, February 26, 1837 and was therefore past 73 years of age. Though he led a life of constant activity, much of it under hardship and privations, he was of great vitality. Few who knew him more than 65 and he was active clear to the day of his last illness. But partially tinged with gray he did not show his age and from his jolly and jovial manner he would scarce have been classed among the patriarchs. To the very last he was a man of the present hour fully alive to surrounding conditions and as ambitious and hopeful as any of his fellow citizens.

His life was devoted primarily to the ministry but while almost constantly in the direct service of the Baptist church, he also found time to play a valorous part in the defense of his country on many fields of carnage, and in subsequent years in the development of the great west.

Material monuments to his industry and foresight, in the way of churches, schools, railroads, prosperous towns and happy homes, dot the hills and vales from the Missouri river to San Francisco, and south to this valley where the closing chapters of his life were written in similar characters on the scroll of time.

Leaving Michigan in an early day he went to New York state where he graduated from the Rochester university and the Rochester theological seminary and in 1861 at the age of 24 he was called to the pastorate of the First Baptist church of the acuse. Early in the days of the civil war he joined the union forces at the head of company C of the 125th New York volunteer infantry. He suffered many and grievous wounds and September 23, 1864 he was mustered out, for he was wounded at Gettysburg, twice at Gettysburg and twice more at Spotsylvania court house. In one of the latter a shell tore away the muscles of the thigh. Had he not been a man of remarkable vitality and indomitable will he must have succumbed to these injuries.

His recital of one incident is recalled, when after a particularly bloody battle the surgeons and their assistants went over the field sorting out the possible survivors from those believed to be mortally wounded, as facilities did not permit them to give attention to all. Mr. Scott was indicated as one to be left to die on the field. He just had strength enough to reach his musket and aim it, demanding that attention be given him. It was so ordered and he was saved for nearly half a century of further usefulness.

Recovering sufficiently from his wounds to resume his ministerial duties he was called to the pastorate of the First Baptist church in Leavenworth, Kansas, and in the years that followed he did much in the way of organizing churches in eastern, central and southern Kansas. The city of Winfield, Kansas, it is said, is named after him, and he had to do with naming other of the many towns then rapidly springing up in the sunflower state.

He was also connected energetically in immigration work and railroad extension through the developing state. In addition to his ministerial duties, he was an active force in church organization for a period, still later going to San Francisco, San Jose and Los Angeles, in all of which he was identified with church organization and extension. He was named a doctor of divinity in California in 1878. In 1882 he was appointed chaplain in the regular army being retired on account of recurring trouble from his wounds, in March 1893.

In the nineties he came to this valley, being then still connected

Need Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Brookfield, Mo.—"Two years ago I was unable to do any kind of work and only weighed 118 pounds. My trouble dates back to the time that women may expect nature to bring on them the Change of Life. I got Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and it made me feel much better, and I have continued its use. I am very grateful to you for the good health I am now enjoying."—Mrs. SARAH LOUISGONT, 414 S. Livingston Street, Brookfield, Mo.

The Change of Life is the most critical period of a woman's existence, and neglect of health at this time invites disease and pain.

Women everywhere should remember that there is no other remedy known to medicine that will so successfully carry women through this trying period as Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, made from native roots and herbs.

For 30 years it has been curing women from the worst forms of female ills—inflammation, ulceration, displacements, fibroid tumors, irregularities, periodic pains, backache, and nervous prostration.

If you would like special advice about your case write a confidential letter to Mrs. Pinkham, at Lynn, Mass. Her advice is free, and always helpful.

with the regular army, and secured new land where the family home and the little town of Scottsdale now are, the latter being named by him. He was the first settler in that little community and the first and foremost in its development, until the day of his death. His ranch and orchard and vines were all planted with the idea of making that his permanent residence, and for many years before the tide of rapid immigration set in, it was a veritable oasis in the desert. As a farmer and fruit grower he took just as keen interest in any other vocation and his fruit and grain crops have often figured as examples of what intelligent farming could accomplish in the Salt River valley.

During the later years of his life, since Scottsdale became his permanent abiding place, he has been afflicted and concerned in all movements he conceived to be for the betterment of the territory and the state to be. Always an active worker in the Baptist church he has done much for the advancement of its cause in this territory and has been influential in organizing several congregations and erecting several church edifices. In public and community projects he has been selected to be a leader and was elected to serve this county in the Twentieth legislative assembly, where he proved to be an influential member. His canvass was made on the republican ticket as he has always been politically identified with that party. He has also been an enthusiastic member of the Grand Army for many years. A few years ago he served the national organization as chief chaplain. At the time of his death he held no office in the Grand Army but was a past senior vice commander of the Arizona department.

Finances and Markets

New York, Oct. 20.—Dealings on a renewed upturn in prices today continued even more than usual in Steel. The action of that stock begot suspicion of a new movement represented in the change in the auspices under which the market operations were conducted.

The rise in Steel placed it well above the previous level touched in the present movement, and in fact above any price touched since June. Then it reached 79½, but fell precipitately to the lowest of the year, 67½, less than a month later. The potent

BRIGHT'S DISEASE

Late estimates on the percentage of recoveries under the new emollient treatment for Bright's Disease are as follows:

Where patient is much weakened and crises may be expected in from five to ten days, probably not more than 10 to 20 per cent recover. Where physicians aid with efforts to restrain fatal symptoms this percentage is increased. In cases where patients have from thirty to sixty days of life the efficiency is very much higher.

Where patients do not wait until bed-ridden probably three-fourths yield. And in cases that take the new emollient treatment on the appearance of the disease nearly nine out of ten respond.

Albumen Casts and Dropsy do not prevent recovery. The point is that the Renal inflammation should be attacked before the heart and physical system are broken down. The new emollient treatment is known as FULTON'S Renal Compound. It can be had at all druggists. We desire every patient to write us who is not noting the usual improvement by the third week. Literature mailed free. Jno. J. Fulton Co., 645 Battery St., San Francisco, Cal. We invite correspondence with physicians who have obstinate cases.

pany in the musical farce, "The Hello Girl." Billie Friedlander is seen in another of his exuberantly funny Dutch parts and if anybody needs a good remedy for the blues or an evening's entertainment at the Grand while this show is on. There is not a dull moment in the show and every line has a laugh attached to it. Everybody in the company has a part in the funmaking and handles their part of the funmaking machine in a high class, manner as usual. Nan Halperin made a decided hit with her song, "I never know how to behave when I'm with the boys, boys," and Miss Jean Hathaway brought the house down with her song number, "I'm a poor unhappy maid." One of the big features of the show was Fred Lazone's number assisted by the dancing chorus, in which every member does a dance of some description and each one brought the house down with applause. Mr. Lazone winds this number up with one of his celebrated back dances, which brought several encores.

"From the smoke of my cigarette," sung by Arthur Silver was the biggest hit of the show and he was the recipient of generous applause. There is not a dull moment in the whole show and the performance adds another star to the crown of the high class productions being put on by Mr. Friedlander in this city. Big dance tonight.
